

Winter Stadium Opens Tonight

by Peter Kilburn

A long-awaited addition to McGill's sports scene will be officially opened tonight at 8 pm. The artificial hockey rink, started in July 1955, will be given its send-off when D. W. Ambridge, President of the McGill Graduates' Society, drops the puck to start a McGill-University of Toronto hockey game.

Home of Hockey

McGill, which might be considered home of the game of hockey, stressed the need for campus rinks as early as 1875. Now, eighty-one years after her first plea, McGill is the proud owner of a beautiful building donated by generous J. W. McConnell.

As far as is known, rules for the game of hockey were first formulated by three students of this university who also took part in the "first-recorded" match. So closely has the University been connected with Canada's national sport that when it was decided to form a Hockey Hall of Fame Mc-form a Hockey Hall of Fame, Mc-its location.

"Mosca his heir?" The conniving rascals Corvina and Corbaccio read with disbelief Volpone's will while his parasite Mosca happily makes an inventory of his newly acquired property in the McGill English Department's forthcoming production of "Volpone". Mosca is played by George Sorger, Corbaccio by Ian Heron, and Corvino by Marvin Bartell. "Volpone" will be presented in Moyse Hall on Dec. 6th, 7th, and 8th.

Redmen vs. Varsity

The new rink, which will hold 1,159 spectators, therefore represents a glorious hockey-history at McGill University. The opening ceremony will be attended by Chancellor B. C. Gardner as well as other officials of the University. The evening's great attraction will be the game between the McGill Redmen and the University of Toronto Blues. This contest will mark the opening of the 1956-57 season for our Redmen. The short opening ceremony will begin at 8:00 p.m., followed immediately by the game.

Noteworthy is the fact that the new rink will serve many groups outside McGill. Amongst these might be cited the Montreal Figure Skating Club, Sir George Williams College and several Montreal high schools. Public Skating facilities will soon be available.

Let's come out 'en masse' to make the official opening a success by cheering on Rocky Robillard (who, incidentally, is rink manager as well as coach) and his squad to victory.

UN-Millions More In Refugee Aid

UN, N.Y., Nov. 29 — (UP) — The United Nations pleaded with peoples and governments throughout the world today to grant immediate haven and $10 million to the thousands of Hungarian refugees streaming into Austria from Red terror.

The appeal was made as the General Assembly waited for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to report on his efforts to get himself or representatives named by him into Hungary.

The flood of Hungarians from their homeland into Austria has been so far above the original expectations that the U.N. refugee experts raised their fund-raising goal from $6.5 million to $10 million.

The latest figures showed 96,000 refugees had entered Austria from Hungary and only 22,000 of them had been taken to other countries so far. The daily rate of flow into Austria is about 1,800 greater than the flow from Austria to other countries, posing a momentous refugee problem for that newly independent nation.

Even if the departure rate catches up to the influx, the U.N. figures at least 60,000 refugees will have to be cared for on Austrian soil for at least six months.

Switzerland already has taken in 4,000; France 3,000; West Germany 3,600; Sweden 1,000; The Netherlands 2,000; Belgium 3,000; Italy 1,000 and The United Kingdom 3,350. Only 610 refugees have come to the U.S.A., and none to the Latin-American countries. This, however, is largely due to the difficulty of arranging overseas transportation.

Snowballing

The sight of one of the more eminent members of the SEC good-naturedly removing several encrusted snowballs from his glasses and person inspired thoughts on the possibility of livening up McGill, and solving some of our problems. There have been complaints voiced that nothing ever happens at McGill, that the pace of the campus is too steady, that life is dull, that we have settled into middle age serenity without ever knowing the pleasures and irresponsibilities of youth.

The early arrival of snow means something can be done about all this. At present snowballing on the campus is totally disorganised. Apart from some sporadic forays between friends, and some admirable sustained barrages from the women's fraternities directed with considerable skill and cunning, there has been no serious attempt to co-ordinate and encourage the fine art of snowballing. The first move to rectify this matter would of course be for the SEC to form a committee to investigate things. Provisional lists of teams eligible could be drawn up, and rules formulated.

Once the scheme was in operation old enmities could be fought out, matters of honour settled ("Hard snowballs at 50 paces at dawn on the Lower Campus"), excess energy expended, and a warm, healthy, if slightly damp glow imparted to all participants. The Arab Club could battle it out with the Israeli Club, Arts could prove their manhood against the Engineers, SEC nominees could show their conduct under fire. — The possibilities are endless.

The revival of the art of snowballing would do much rouse the old McGill spirit, bind faculties together, inculcate comradeship among students and in general return an air of life to the campus.

Another Symbol Destroyed

We were riding along in a bus the other day, when our attention was caught by a large gaily coloured advertisement hung in a rather conspicuous place. It depicted Santa Clause peeping into a room and pointing with great delight at a beribboned Christmas case of beer resting on a table beneath a Christmas tree. The caption read as follows: "Look what they've left for ME!"

We realize that Christmas has become highly commercialized in the past few years, but now the advertising agencies are in the process of destroying the symbol of Christmas that they themselves have built up. Santa Clause used to be a kindly old gentleman who came once a year to distribute presents to all the good little girls and boys. This ensured good behaviour from them at least for the month immediately preceding Christmas, and so the parents were more or less forced to go out and buy presents to keep their children's "faith" alive. But now the advertising agencies are destroying the children's faith in Santa Clause themselves by presenting him as a drunken sot who goes into raptures when someone is kind enough to leave a case of beer for him. Is nothing sacred any more?

"Fun At All Costs"

Sir:

The Daily does much good work in publicizing the functions of clubs and organizations on the campus. It supports charitable institutions and the like by telling the reading public of their good works. I should like to bring to your attention a group of people who, though not organized into a society, are a wonderful, merry bunch, and who are not officially known to the public.

I refer to the 'Fun at all costs' group. These are a group of junior year engineers who have magnanimously taken it upon themselves to put on a show for the entertainment of the public four or five times a day. The entertainment consists of having a large number of these generous young men stand on the steps of the Engineering Building merrily tossing snowballs at the young ladies who walk past. The

Letters To The Editor

True Love — The Almighty Dollar

In his article "Olympics 1956" which appeared in the Daily of November 23rd, Mr. Mettarlin displayed one characteristic which threatens the Olympics as a true sporting spectacle, love of the

ALMIGHTY DOLLAR.

When one is brought up in the atmosphere that money is EVERYTHING, no doubt it is difficult to comprehend criticism of professionalism. It should be pointed out to Mr. Mettarlin that there are people in this world who do get enjoyment out of sport even though they don't get paid for it!

In countries where such people exist, participation, with its physical and mental benefits, is stressed. For example, a student in such a country would rather play in the third or fourth rugby team, than spend the afternoon in the stands watching a professional inter-town contest. Of course there are professional teams in such countries as well, but the whole sporting system of the nation is not geared to money-making, as is the case here.

It should be pointed out that Canada is no less guilty than the U.S.A. and Russia in respect to breach of the Olympic amateur code. The hockey teams sent to the Winter Olympics are acknowledged, even by Canadians, not to be amateur. Therefore Mr. Mettarlin is in no position to criticise the actions of Russia in supporting her athletes.

Mr. Mettarlin argues that amateurism was alright in times of the Greeks but that "it is not quite the same when competing against Russian state-supported 'robots'". By openly introducing professionalism into the Olympics as he suggested, Mr. Mettarlin would have the rest of the world's athletes guilty of the infringement which he condemns the Russian athletes.

The solution to creating a truly amateur Olympic Games can be only in the expulsion of participants guilty of professionalism like Russia and her satellites, the U.S.A. and Canada from the hockey in the Winter Olympics and corresponding measures where necessary in other events.

Finally, to one who appreciates sport for sport's sake, and for the benefits which it provides, and who senses something unsavory when all major sports in a country are played merely for the money involved, the Greek amateur athlete described by Mr. Mettarlin as a "six foot goon of two 'centaur weight'", is superior to the despicable gum-chewing crew-cropped "amateur."

group is necessarily large because these are bashful young men who do not wish to be individually conspicuous; that might bring them public recognition, and being a shy bunch, simply wish to do their bit towards making this a brighter world in their own modest way.

The fun to be had from this is obvious to all. Chuckles are to be heard from passers-by; the girls receiving the gently tossed tokens of respect, love it. Everywhere is applause; laughter resounds through the air. An important part of this entertainment is the noise; the players on the steps must shout encouragement and laugh, for after all the best way to make a person feel happy is to let him hear laughter.

It all puts me in mind of a joke that the North American Indians of many years ago used to play on each other; it consisted of two or more friends getting together and smearing dung all over another friend. This was sure to provoke howls of laughter, and they would chuckle over it at every campfire. It was spoiled, however, if the butt of the joke was not a good sport, and perhaps our friends of the snowballs should bear this in mind. Perhaps one day their target will turn out to be a sour, miserable girl with an unhealthy outlook on life — she might not catch the spirit of goodwill and fun which is intended.

Frankly, Mr. Editor, I feel like vomiting. That members of the Faculty to which I have the 'honor' to belong should behave in such a disgustingly obscene, cowardly, infantile and boorish manner revolts me. I realize that this is the age of ignoring one's upbringing, of disregarding authority, of blaming 'society' and 'the parents' for the imperfections of youth, but surely this does not necessarily mean that all vestiges of decency and manners must be forgotten. What these morons forget is that they now have no excuse to blame parents and environment for their actions, as every one of them is now old enough to be a parent himself. This, in theory at least, makes one 'grown up'.

I should like to end with two suggestions. First, that the Daily should take a photograph (and print it) of one of these spectacles in session. Second, that the Daily should organize a contest whereby these boys should be able to stand on the steps of the building (alone and one by one) and have a given time limit in which he is to try and hit as many girls as possible, with extra marks if he hurts her. A prize could be given to the winner, as well as the prestige that would go with winning such a contest. Suggestions for prizes would include a new feeding bottle; half a dozen diapers; bubble gum; a sling shot; a pair of motorcycle boots, and perhaps a strait-jacket.

Yours, etc.

Arts and Science — Elect Two

Bob Amaron

The importance of representing the wishes of Arts and Science I have discussed in my campaign letter. However, you elect your Representative also to relieve you of the bother of handling routine student affairs. Accordingly, my responsibility as a candidate includes showing that I am a person you can trust to handle such matters on my own, but in a manner satisfactory to you.

I'm your man if you want...

Better and closer relations with the students of other Universities, both Canadian and foreign.

Closer co-operation with the University authorities in order to best serve the interests of McGill as a whole and the student body in particular.

Fair and complete distribution of Council funds, primarily to foster a growth of McGill organizations.

And of course, Good Government.

Bob Amaron

PEN SKETCH

We know Bob Amaron to be energetic, enthusiastic and interested. He is a McConnell scholar and an Honours student in English and Philosophy. An active campus leader, Bob is both an executive (Choral Society, P. C. Club) and a volunteer (Open House, Red Cross). We feel that he will be an asset to the S. E. C. and a dependable representative for Arts and Science. We gladly commend Bob to you for your consideration.

Stuart Smith

If elected, I shall concentrate on providing the students of Arts and Science with effective and REAL representation.

Four main issues I shall support are:

- 1) Open meetings;
- 2) More student use of the Winter Stadium;
- 3) A student executive group that will make known the opinions of the student body on issues of importance.
- 4) Closer co-operation with other universities.

Stuart Smith

PEN SKETCH

We, the undersigned, feel that Stu's record and experience in a wide variety of campus activities render him the logical choice as Arts and Science S.E.C. representative. A University scholar and a Psychology honors student Stu is presently the Associate Editor of the Annual, the Executive Sports Editor of the Daily, the Chairman of the Winter Carnival Debating Conference, and a member of the executive of the Debating Union

Brahm Campbell

Open S.E.C. meetings in the main, increased student understanding of the workings of their executive, greater national and international student co-operation, and true representation for the views of Arts and Science students with their interests always in mind form the planks in my platform. If elected, these are the goals for which I shall continually strive.

Brahm Campbell

PEN SKETCH

Brahm was graduated from Strathcona Academy where he was active in Red Cross work and debating. Here at McGill he is in his third year of an Arts Course majoring in Political Science. At present he is on the Arts and Science Executive, as debating co-chairman, on the executive of the McGill Liberal Club, on the steering Committee for the Mock Parliament, and he is also active in the United Nations' Club's Model Security Council. Last season Brahm received his gold "A", and he also won the Arts and Science Senior Debating Trophy and the Hugessen Memorial Cup for inter-collegiate debating.

Because of his experience and ability we feel quite confident that Brahm will more than adequately represent Arts and Science on the Students' Executive Council.

Having represented McGill on numerous occasions in inter-collegiate debate, he holds a Gold "A" debating and executive award, as well as the Special Award from the McGill Daily. We suggest that all this experience, combined with his sincere attitude, mark Stu as the ideal man for the S.E.C.

To increase student participation in activities, I promise to encourage use of student application forms for executive positions, to urge the S.E.C. to open its policy-making meetings, and give representation to natural groups, such as fraternities, residences, and ac-

If elected as A.S.U.S. representative to the S.E.C., I will do my best to promote the interests of the Arts and Science undergraduate body in student affairs. To carry out this promise, I would be only too glad to listen to any opinions that members of Arts and Science might have concerning campus activities, and to present them to the S.E.C. for consideration. Furthermore, I would report all important matters discussed in S.E.C. via notices on the A.S.U.S. bulletin boards.

I firmly believe that S.E.C. should be a representative rather than a governing body, and will do my part to make it such if elected.

In conclusion I can promise that my efforts would be directed at being: firstly, an adequate representative of A.S.U.S. opinion; se-

David Freedman entered McGill in 1954 from Strathcona Academy, with a University Scholarship, having placed third in the H.S.L. examinations. He won the Redpath Scholarship for leading first year Arts and Science. His University Scholarship was renewed in 1955 and 1956. He is reading honours Mathematics.

ENGINEERING — ELECT ONE

Steve Allison

If elected, I promise to represent the Engineers so that their opinions and wishes, on any issue, will be respected and considered by the S.E.C.

My aims will be to promote greater co-operation between the E.U.S. Executive and the various S.E.C. COMMITTEES with whom they deal. Also, I aim to stimulate increased Engineer participation in student activities.

Steve Allison

PEN SKETCH

We, the undersigned, heartily endorse Steve Allison as your S.E.C. representative. We do this in view of the great efforts he has put into his extremely varied campus activities. In particular, we feel that he has had more experience with the E.U.S. Executive than any of his opponents. He gained this as 2nd Year President and Engineering Athletics Representative.

Steve is a member of the Scarlet Key. He has been in the McGill C.O.T.C., and last year was the Contingent RSM. His other activities include the Annual, Freshman Reception, and the Prom, Plumber's Ball and Tri-Service Ball Committees. He was vice-chairman of the recent Students' Fund for McGill.

Athletically, Steve has been equally active, having been on the Intercollegiate Rugby, Track, and Harrier teams, and competing in numerous intramural sports.

We can only give you his qualifications: It is up to you to vote.

Louis Donolo

As your representative to the S.E.C. I would attempt to:

1. Represent the engineering viewpoint on the Council and gain more recognition for the Faculty.

2. Obtain more funds and cooperation, to run our Engineering Society Activities on a larger scale.

3. Give the Engineering student a more responsible say in his own government.

4. Improve our social program.

Louis Donolo

PEN SKETCH

During his four years at McGill Louis Donolo has had the opportunity of working with and gaining the friendship and admiration of a large number of his fellow students. He has been active on the McGill Winter Carnival Executive for the past three years and is now chairman of the Carnival. In 1955, he was Technical Director of the Red and White Revue, and is at present, chairman of the McGill Prom. He is an executive member of the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Civil Engineering Society; a member of the Phi Epsilon Alpha Society and a member of the Scarlet Key. He has taken part in organizational work in numerous campus activities. We earnestly believe that having served in these capacities, he possesses qualities of leadership and ability which will enable him to properly represent the Faculty of Engineering on the S. E. C.

Mike Novac

Did you know that the Faculty of Arts and Science has 2 representatives on the Students Executive Council, for 1,700 students and the Faculty of Engineering has only one for 1,600 students? Although this question of representation has been raised many times nothing has been done. If elected I would attempt to correct this injustice.

I could make many promises but it must be realized that the Faculty of Engineering represents only 5% of the voting power on the S.E.C. Consequently, it would be dishonest to present illusions of grandeur. However, I would like to emphasize that the interest of the engineers will always be foremost in my mind.

Mike Novac

PEN SKETCH

It is with great confidence that we recommend Mike Novac for the position of S.E.C. Representative. Since he entered McGill in 1954, Mike has proved himself as an athlete and a scholar, maintaining a better-than-average standing while participating in such sports as tennis, squash and skiing. A very active man in campus affairs Mike has been an executive of the U.N. Club, connected with the Plumbers Ball, Carnival Ball, Open House, McGill Fund and the McGill Daily. An active debater in the Faculty of Engineering and in inter-faculty debating, Mike was recently a delegate to the N.F.C. U.S. conference and is presently the co-chairman of the Engineering Undergraduate Society House-Committee and of the S.E.C. Parking Committee.

Vito Volterra

I feel that our faculty is carrying more than its share in campus activities. Almost all major events on the S. E. C. schedule are run and organized by engineers, while the E.U.S., as such, is not given any credit for it. The Engineering Faculty is kept isolated by the S.E.C. in general; the Council sponsors cultural and educational programs aimed mainly for other faculties, like Arts. Even if we receive about 2,500 dollars a year from the students fees, I do not think it is fair to leave the complete load of technical educational programs on the E.U.S.

One of the things I feel most strongly about is the fact that we are the largest faculty in the university (more than 25% of the whole students body) and we have only one member on the Council. It is obvious that the S.E.C. is not representing the faculties but the students as a body, and I feel that the students should be represented in their ideas and their needs in proportion to their number. I feel that two representatives should be elected from Engineering (this will be, if elected, my principal aim).

Vito Volterra

PEN SKETCH

Vito has always been very active on the campus. This year he was Ass't. Chairman of the Freshmen Reception Committee; Chairman of promotions in the Winter Carnival; Co-Chairman of the Social Committee of the Union; Treasurer of the Arts and Craft Exhibition Committee; Assistant of the McGill Students Fund. We the undersigned think that by voting Vito Volterra for S.E.C. representative you will be making the right choice.

Hoopsters Meet St. Lawrence, Blues Edge Carabins Clarkson In Exhibition Games

by Stuart Smith

The McGill Redmen continue along the basketball exhibition trail this weekend as they travel to Clarkson College and St. Lawrence University for tilts with each of these New York colleges.

Both these American schools boast teams with height advantages over the McGills. It is expected that Joe Anderson will allow his full team to make the trip, including some of last year's Intermediates who should help in the rebounding. Anderson was somewhat hopeful that last Tuesday's performance against Plattsburg State Teachers College would not be repeated. He felt that his boys, in their first outing, were too tight and far too slow.

Clarkson College, situated in Potsdam, N.Y., is the scene of many a McGill defeat of past years, usually by rather large scores. Since most of last year's squad is returning to the American school, not too much hope is held out for a McGill upset. Nonetheless, Anderson will be watching his charges carefully with a view towards selecting his final team for league play.

Captain Leon DuPlessis will start at centre, with Justin Cross, ex-Colby College star to see forward action. It is, as yet, uncertain whether Don Wright, veteran guard of the Redmen, will see action over the weekend. Don has been nursing an injured ankle for quite some time now, and Joe Anderson may not want to aggravate the injury by taxing Wright too soon.

Others on the injured list include Ozzie Zommers and Sonny Gordon, both of whom count to a great extent in Anderson's plans for the Intercollegiate season. Finny Heffernan, now in his fourth year with the Redmen, and George Rosenberg will make the trip, along with Herman Zloklikovits and John Finch. Former Intermediates Tim Leary, Leon Solomon, Frank Scheider, and Morty Cohen have been showing well with the senior club so far, and are slated to see their share of action on Friday and Saturday. Leary appeared with the Redmen a number of times last season, while Solomon, Cohen and Scheider are proficient rebounders.

The second game of the weekend pits McGill against St. Lawrence University. The cagers from this school last met the Redmen in 1955, the final score of that game being 105-57. Top contenders for the St. Lawrence starting berths are Jim Harvey, Bill Filiatreau, Bob Butts, and Tony Marotta, at the forward posts, with either Lou Grimaldy or 'Rusty' Kraft getting first preference at centre.

At the guards, coach 'Tully' Wells has Augie Almela, Bob Tuohy, Al Geppert, and Gary Cerrone from which to choose. All four are experienced men. The St. Lawrence club has no one shorter than 5'11" playing for it; four of their members are over 6'4".

The next home game for the Redmen is slated for a week from this Saturday, when Plattsburg will be the visitors on Athletics Night.

There will be recreational skating on Monday night from 8 to 10 p.m. at the McGill Winter Stadium. All students are asked to bring identification in the form of their McGill student identification cards.

Blues Edge Carabins Gouvernement Elik Star

The Toronto Varsity Blues edged out the University of Montreal Carabins 3-1 last night in a close checking game at the MWS last night. The game was played before a near capacity crowd (that's right) of 1495 Carabin rooters.

The game was preceded by a ceremony which highlighted a donkey ejecting pucks through its posterior.

The Toronto team completely outplayed the Carabins throughout the game, and only some miraculous goaling by Cy Gouvernement of the Carabins saved the Yellow and Blues from a trouncing. The Blues peppered Cy with 42 shots, many of them from in close, or on breakaways.

Ray Dunn, substituting for regular goaler Al Cecucci, was adequate in the Toronto nets.

The Blues Opened the scoring at 14:48 of the second period when Mike Elik knocked the disk by Gouvernement from a scramble in front of the nets.

Toronto pressed for the remainder of the second period but just could not beat Gouvernement.

Brian Anderson made it 2-0 when he rebounded in. Clare Fisher's shot at 5:26 of the third period.

The Carabins soon got that one back as Maurice Duhaime flipped in a pass from Pierre Renaud at 6:03. Toronto protested the goal vehemently, claiming that the U of M had iced the puck. The referee allowed the goal anyway.

Fisher clinched the game for the Blues by scoring on a breakaway in which he waltzed around Carabin defenceman, Jacques Saint-Jean. Munro and Anderson picked up assists on that play.

Best man on the ice for Toronto was All-Star defenceman Dave Jackson. Coupled with captain Dave Stephen, they were a tower of strength on defence. Up front, the line centred by Mike Elik, with John McDonald and Mert Wright on the wings, showed well. It was held in check throughout the game.

Dunc Brodie showed speed, desire, and fight last night. In fact, he showed so much fight that he was willing to take on a Carabin spectator. Fortunately, his teammates held him back.

For the U of M, Gerry Houle played well on defence, and Pierre Royer displayed speed on offence. The Carabin passing was away off form, and even when they had the man advantage, they could not present a potent offensive. The star for the Carabins was still Cy Gouvernement.

McGILL WINTER STADIUM OPENS TONIGHT AS REDMEN AND BLUES CLASH IN OPENER

Goalkeeping McGill's Big Problem

by
Irwin Sankoff

Tonight's the night! The world premiere of the 1956-57 edition of the McGill Redmen and the gala opening of the McGill Winter Stadium! Just think, a world premiere for only two bits! And that's all it costs to see the opening game between the Redmen and the Toronto Varsity Blues in McGill's brand new rink — just 25 cents and one coupon from your athletics book.

Despite the fact that this is a big occasion, even bigger than the prom, etc., high hat and tails are not needed.

Heavy Practice

Rocky Robillard, coach of the locals, put the team through a light workout at the MWS last night in preparation for the game. The Redmen went through a heavy scrimmage Wednesday night and last night the emphasis was in shooting. After the practice Rocky settled back to watch the U of M Carabins and Toronto Blues tangle and we ventured over to him to ask a few questions.

The main query in the back of our minds was "Who will be in nets at 8 o'clock tomorrow night?" Rocky looked at us, squinted and then came out with the answer. "I don't know."

Goalie Problem

And that has been the answer for the last two years as McGill has been plagued with goalie problems. This year Rocky hopes to have the answer in either John Swaine or Michel Joyal.

The Redmen will also be going out on Friday night to stop a jinx that has hovered over the team ever since Robillard took over the reins of the team from Dave Campbell. The Redmen have never won an opening game under Rocky in six seasons, with one exception. In Rock's first year the Red and White took the opener from Laval, but didn't win another game that season. Then again, the Redmen didn't have their own rink in those years.

At present the Redmen have some 19 men on the roster and Robillard has not as yet mentioned which five men will sit out the opener. The number one attacking line will be made up of Dickie Baltzan at centre with Ross Hughes at right wing and Leo Ronyk on the left side.

Baltzan Back

Baltzan will be back at the centre position after one year at right wing. Centre is Dickie's natural spot and he hopes the change back will help up his goal production. Konyk was the top goal scorer with the Red and White last year as he flashed the red light 24 times in 16 games. Hughes is the new member to the trio and in three exhibition games to date he has fitted in well; scoring seven times.

Jackie McMullan will be back at centre on another of the forward lines with two newcomers to the team on the wings: George Geneux, from Saskatoon, and Dave Murphy from Montreal are McMullan's two line mates. Both Murphy and Geneux are first year Med students.

Third Line

Des Senior, Eldon Horsman and Keith Lawes have been working together as a third line in practice. Other forwards who have also looked good in practice and could line up with the team tonight are Warren Allmand, a three year veteran and Frank Mahoney from Boston.

At present the Redmen have some seven defencemen listed on their roster, but Robillard will probably dress only four or five. Jimmy Grant is out with an injury leaving six others to choose from. Veterans Len Sigurdson, Doug Maule, John Henderson and Ross Dibble are the returnees to the line brigade with Bruce Smith and Don McDonald the newcomers.

Actually only Sigurdson and Maule played on last year's squad, but Henderson and Dibble played with the Redmen two years ago.

Intramural Volleyball

Last Wednesday night the Intramural Volleyball schedule continued and the general turnout proved once again to be disappointing. If those players participating would watch for their games which will always be printed in the Tuesday edition of the Daily, and then show up for their respective games, this would undoubtedly improve the turnout.

Among the teams that won by default was Phys. Ed. "A". They were all good sports and took their not being able to play both games, in good grace. Phys. Ed. "B" also won their first game by default but had a chance to let off some of their preserved energy on Commerce in a high spirited game, with the final score 21-16 in favor of Phys. Ed.

Physio "A", a team with a lot of spirit and good attendance, is still tied for first place with Phys.

Ed. "A", a team showing great promise this year. Holding down second place are Science, Phys. Ed. "B" and Arts "B".

Commerce is joining Arts "A" with the hope that this will produce a stronger team.

A game to be played against the McGill Grads, a group including some of our old high school gym teachers, has been scheduled for Dec. 12 at 8:30 p.m. in RVC gym.

Poloists In Search Of Intercollegiate Title

McGill's Senior Water Polo Team will meet the Varsity Poloists in the second game of their two game total point series for the Intercollegiate Championship at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym Pool, 2 p.m., Saturday. McGill has won the Title, and the Hershorn Cup, emblematic of the Intercollegiate Championship, three years in succession.

Coach Barry Thompson's boys hold an eleven point lead in the series, having won the first game at Toronto's Hart Pool 20-9.

The Red Seals will be at full strength for to-morrow's tilt. Up front will be Charley Evelyn, who scored 9 goals in last Saturday's triumph, Ted Toporowski who got 5 markers, Bill Manning with 4 points, while Cook, Phillips, and Adelson will be on defence. Ed Lewis will guard the nets against the Varsity attackers, particularly Ray Mandel who got 4 goals in the first game, and Berger and Watkins, who each got 2.

This will be the tenth game for Coach Thompson's boys. Previously the Red Seals played a series of exhibitions against the Snowdon and Davis "Y's", and the New York A. C.s, who boasted several Olympic players among its members. The Red Seals' record in these exhibition tilts was 6-2.

Residents Hold Seance Hope Dead Head Will Talk

Lights will go down at Loudon House in University College communication with their spirit Men's Residence tonight so 30 house members can try for spirit head.

Toronto President James Loudon, whose name the house took when it was built two years ago, is expected to communicate with the men by voice. "Girls to exams" is the range of topics he is expected to cover, a Loudon House resident said yesterday.

President Loudon was appointed in 1892.

The seance will begin about 9 o'clock, when the residents, with girls, gather in their common room. None are experienced mediums, but "we're all mediums,"

Bill Ferguson (I UC) said.

Because of the "intimate connection between residents and the former president" no others will be invited, he said. "We hope to have him speak to all the members separately."

"Perhaps he'll give us the guidance we have lacked in the past few months."

He said the ex-president of the University was "most likely to know" the content of May exam papers.

Christians in the house "have said very little about the seance," Ferguson said. At least one is expected. Prayer will be "a last resort" to get Principal Loudon to speak.
